Who is Alix Aharon?

Alix Aharon is the stage name of Alexandra “Alix” Hecht, a Scottish anti-transgender activist. She is a co-founder of anti-transgender front group Partners for Ethical Care.

Alix took data from a map of trans-supportive healthcare providers to create an anti-trans project called The Gender Offender Mapper (later called The Gender Mapping Project). She is an advisor for Women’s Liberation Front (WoLF).

Background

Alix was born in Glasgow, Scotland. She graduated from Craigholme School for Girls in 2003 and earned a bachelor’s degree from University of Aberdeen in 2007. Alix has worked in sales for SuperDerivatives, Checkmarx, WalkMe, AppSee, dLocal, Wishbox, Duve, and Coro.

Alix had an “aggressive eating disorder” for ten years. She emigrated to Israel and spends time in California and Tel Aviv.

She has used a number of aliases:

Who is Jon Uhler?

Jon K. Uhler, MS, LPC, has been a professional therapist for over 25 years, working in a wide variety of clinical settings, including outpatient, inpatient, residential, and hospital settings. He spent over 10 years working with adjudicated troubled teens, prior to his 11+ years working with incarcerated men within both medium and maximum prison settings, during which time he evaluated and treated approximately 4000 Low and High-Risk sex offenders, including sexually violent predators. He is clinically trained and certified by the PA Dept. of Corrections in the management of both sex offender treatment and dual diagnosis programming. Additionally, he has been certified in the PCL-R, the Static-99R, the PAI, and the TJTA.

He is the founder of Survivorsupport.net and Churchproject.org.

“We're being told that transgender medicine is there to help support vulnerable gender-confused children. But is that really true? Could there be something very different going on behind the scenes, where such "professionals" are actually intent upon using such young people as a means to an ends?

What are the inconvenient truths they don't want you to know? What do they want to ensure that parents don't realize? And what do they want to ensure that school boards remain uneducated about in terms of why there is such push by "special interests" to teach SOGI (Sexual Identity and Gender Orientation) Sex Ed in the classroom? And why is YouTube preventing minors from viewing this video (it restricted the video to 18+), since it simply shows the kinds of surgeries young people are being sold as top and bottom surgery?

Why wouldn't those pushing the Trans narrative want young people to have all the information necessary toward ensuring they can truly give informed consent? Why is YouTube not permitting all comments to remain for this video, thus preventing parents, who are awakening to the grand scheme called Transgender medicine after they watch this interview, from freely adding their comments? And, why such effort on the part of YouTube to restrict this information from those who most need to have it available for their thoughtful consideration? In this compelling interview, Alix Aharon, Founder of the Gender Mapping Project, and Co-founder of Partners for Ethical Care pulls back the curtain on the reality of the Transgender Medical Industry, what such doctors are doing to vulnerable young people, and their efforts to keep the public in the dark about what goes on behind the surgery curtain” (Predator Watch, 2021).
